DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 10/3/08 has been entered.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments filed 10/3/08 have been fully considered and they are moot in view of the new rejection

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 3761

4. Claim 28 and 39-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Lamb USPN 7172573. Lamb discloses a barrel for use with a tampon applicator assembly comprising: a tapered main section 12 adjacent insertion tip 22 and a finger grip 40 adjacent the tapered main section and opposite the insertion tip 22, wherein the finger grip has a first region and second region adjacent the gripping region (before and after gripping region). The insertion tip 22 and the tapered main section 14 intersect at a first plane. The first region intersects the tapered main section at a second plane having a maximum outer dimension intersecting the tapered main section at a first plane having a maximum outer dimension. The gripping region 40 intersects the first region and has a second outer dimension where the maximum outer dimension is larger than the second outer dimension (Figures 1-3).

As to claim 39, the gripping region 40 has a length and an outer dimension. The outer dimension is substantially smaller than an outer dimension of the first region and an outer dimension of the second region at least at one plane along the length of the gripping region (Figures 1-3).

As to claim 40, the maximum dimension is a maximum dimension of the barrel (Figures 1-3).

As to claim 41, Lamb teaches the second region (after the finger grip 40) intersects the gripping region 40 at a plane and terminates at an end of the barrel, wherein the second region has a maximum outer dimension at the end (Figures 1 and 3).

Art Unit: 3761

5. Claim 42 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Lamb USPN 7172573.

As to claim 42 and the limitations of forming the barrel is directed to a process of making the article. "Even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process." In re Thorpe, 777 F.2d 695, 698, 227 USPQ 964, 966 (Fed. Cir. 1985) (citations omitted). MPEP 2113.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 29-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lamb USPN 7172573..

As to claims 29-31, 32, 34, and 35, Lamb discloses the present invention substantially as claimed except Jackson does not disclose the claimed percentage the maximum outer dimension is located from the insertion tip or the claimed taper ratio. In Gardner v. TEC Systems, Inc., 725 F.2d 1338, 220 USPQ 777 (Fed. Cir. 1984), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 830, 225 USPQ 232 (1984), the Federal Circuit held that, where the only difference between the prior art and the claims was a recitation of relative dimensions of the claimed device and a device having the claimed relative dimensions would not perform differently than the prior art device, the claimed device was not patentably distinct from the prior art device.

As to claims 36 and 37, Lamb discloses the present invention substantially as claimed except Jackson does not disclose the petal length-to-width ratio. However, Lamb discloses a tampon inserter having an insertion end sized to enable the plunger to expel the pledget. In Gardner v. TEC Systems, Inc., 725 F.2d 1338, 220 USPQ 777 (Fed. Cir. 1984), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 830, 225 USPQ 232 (1984), the Federal Circuit held that, where the only difference between the prior art and the claims was a recitation of relative dimensions of the claimed device and a device having the claimed relative dimensions would not perform differently than the prior art device, the claimed device was not patentably distinct from the prior art device.

Allowable Subject Matter
